SO, YOU'RE WORKING REMOTE! NOW WHAT?

Come together with BOMA Georgia for a webinar series exploring the increasing trend in the remote work dynamic that started in response to the COVID-19 outbreak. Those using code "BOMA" can attend one or both of these seminars absolutely free!

WEBINAR: Improving your Effectiveness as a Remote Employee In Unusual Times

MARCH 25, 2020 | 11-11:45 AM ET

While many of us have policies that have allowed us to enjoy the benefits of partial virtual work, we have entered a time when we may be forced into total virtual work for a longer period of time. There are a few essentials that all virtual environments need in place in order to function well, and there are others that have to do with the psychological impact of being externally forced into this arrangement, along with personality styles that are well-suited and some that are not for this environment. We'll take a look at basic principles of being a successful remote employee, explore some actions that everyone can take to manage work styles, address engagement preferences, consider reducing stress in an ever evolving environment, answer questions about challenges everyone is facing, and explore problem-solving together.

REGISTER - MARCH 25

WEBINAR: Effectively Managing and Leading Remote Employees During An Evolving Situation

MARCH 26, 2020 | 2:30-3:15 PM ET

Is leadership different when facilitating employee success in a virtual environment? Do some employees flourish better than others? While many of us have experienced partial virtual work environments, we have never been in a forced virtual environment for an undetermined amount of time before. How can we identify and address the differences in our team members and help them thrive individually? What leadership characteristics do we need to demonstrate to them in an ever evolving situation and an uncertain environment? Join us for an informative session and explore solutions to help alleviate the worries and maximize the productivity of your teams for the weeks ahead.
