BOMA Greater Dallas Wins International TOBY Award in Medical Office Building Category

Dallas, TX – July 9, 2020 – On Thursday, July 9, the International Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA) honored its top buildings and members at the BOMA International TOBY Awards Program. BOMA Greater Dallas is pleased to announce that Sammons Cancer Center managed by Physicians Realty Trust and property manager Susan Leinweaver, took home the highest honors in the Medical Office Building category.

The objective of The Outstanding Building of the Year (TOBY) Awards Program is not to award the aesthetics of the building, but to recognize excellence in building management, operating efficiency, tenant retention, emergency planning and community impact. The competition begins at the local level and winners move to the regional level. Regional winners then compete internationally, against properties from all major cities around the world.

Congratulations to all the property management teams who competed in the 2020 BOMA International TOBY Awards Program, and to everyone who received top honors at the BOMA International Conference. We are already preparing for next year's competition, as entries will be accepted through July 31.
